Scrap Metal Intelligence

A structured data feed on South Africa's secondary-metal flows: yards, monthly volumes, weekly prices and export permits.

WHAT IT IS

South Africa's scrap market, in one dataset.

Scrap recycling is a secondary supply stream that competes with primary mine output, especially in steel and copper, yet it is largely unstructured and undocumented.

TerraQ Scrap Metal Intelligence brings yard-level volumes, prices and export permit flows into one clean dataset, delivered by subscription through a secure API.

THE PROBLEM IT SOLVES

Scrap supply is hard to model.

No single source

Yard volumes, prices and export permits sit in different places, in different formats.

Prices without context

Local scrap prices are rarely tracked against LME reference rates and the exchange rate.

Export flows are opaque

Permit decisions under ITAC's Price Preference System are published as PDFs, not as data.

FORMAT

COVERAGE

Yards, flows, weekly prices,
ITAC permits

STATUS

Early access, from R
4,500/month

HOW IT WORKS

Four layers, each feeding the next.

1 Yards

Scrap yards with GPS, MRA membership, metals handled, estimated monthly tonnage and downstream buyers.

2 Flows

Monthly inflow and outflow by metal, to mills, foundries, smelters and export.

3 Prices

Weekly ZAR/kg benchmarks for 12 metals against LME USD/t rates and the ZAR/USD exchange rate.

4 Permits

ITAC Price Preference System applications: yard, metal, volume and decision.

SUBSCRIPTION TIERS

Three tiers, one platform.

- Secure API that works from Excel, Python or any HTTP client
- Demo account on sample data before you subscribe

BUILT FOR

- Commodity analysts and forecasters
- Mining house research teams
- Recyclers, traders and smelters

FOR SCRAP YARDS

Share your volumes, get the benchmarks free.

Yards that contribute monthly figures get free access to weekly benchmark prices, national totals and ITAC export trends. Figures stay confidential unless the yard chooses to be named.
